

Who We Are:

Seattle Reproductive Medicine (SRM) is one of the nation's leading infertility treatment practices. The physicians have been providing advanced reproductive technologies (ART) in the Seattle area for over 25 years.

SRM is part of IntegraMed® America, the largest most reputable fertility network in the country. With nearly 160 reproductive endocrinologists and embryologists in 87 locations across the United States, Integramed practices have done more research in the field of infertility and treated more patients than any other physician consortium.

SRM is a cohesive team of 7 nationally recognized reproductive endocrinologists, offering patients access to a superior level of expertise and a higher standard of care. - SRM offers more financing options. For those with little or no insurance coverage, we offer the Attain Refund® Program, unique because it is based on substantial refund if the patient does not take home a baby. Other IVF guarantees are based only on achieving pregnancy, which does not meet the patient's objective.

- SRM was the first Seattle Area practice to provide an on-site, acupuncturist. Acupuncture before and after embryo transfer has been found to improve IVF pregnancy outcomes.
- SRM attracts out-of-state and international patients. 20% of IVF patients travel to SRM for IVF.
- SRM offers the most complete scope of services of any practice in the Northwest. In addition to acupuncture, SRM also provides onsite urology, counseling, genetic counseling.
- SRM's Donor Egg and Third-Party Reproduction program is the largest in the Northwest and through full-time recruitment maintains over 100 active egg donors. In 2008 SRM performed 160 donor egg IVF cycles.
